A. S. Dresser, a prominent Oregon City citizen, is registered at the Parker.

The Idaho volunteer regiment passed through Portland yesterday on its way home.

Colonel E. C. Hughes is expected back from Boise City, Idaho, Friday or Saturday.

The transport City of Rio de Janeiro is due to arrive from San Francisco this morning.

Mrs. O. W. Dunbar will leave for Skagway Friday to join her husband and daughter.

Cad Wilson, accompanied by Mrs. Fred Merrill, of Portland, came down on the noon train yesterday.

William Tarrant, formerly of this city, but now a resident of East Portland, is in the city on business.

What does the "O. H. F." mean? The Astorian only knows that it is an advertisement inserted in the paper.

The Borthwick lumber saw Dewey arrived from Goble yesterday with a cargo of lumber for the local yard.

Mr. Hammond's offices in the Oregonian building have been connected with the general offices in Astoria by wire.

Mrs. Captain Richardson, her two sisters, the Misses Cole, and Master Willie Cole returned last night from Portland.

The steamer Brunswick arrived in yesterday from San Francisco with a cargo of redwood lumber and proceeded up to Portland.

Nate Jones has returned from a trip up the line of the railroad, where he has been in the interest of Seaside lodge, A. O. U. W.

R. L. Knapp has relinquished the management of the Warrenton Tribune. Charles Newman, of Tillamook, is now the managing editor.

The grand jury for the October term of the United States circuit court was drawn Tuesday. No Clatsop county men are on its panel.

Herman Wise offers $1.50 to every person who buys a men's suit or overcoat from him and 10 per cent off on all the rest of his fine stock.

The local lodge of Red Men is making great preparations for their annual ball which will be given in Foard & Stokes hall Thanksgiving eve.

J. C. Mayo, of the A. & C. R., returned last night from a business trip in Eastern Oregon. Mrs. Mayo and son are visiting in the Willamette valley.

Mrs. P. F. Woodford will give two lessons a week in shorthand at her home, 188 Commercial street, $4 a month. All interested call Tuesday evening, October 3.

L. Samuel, of the Equitable Life Insurance Company, is in the city. The Astorian office is indebted to Mr. Samuel for a handsome photo of Admiral Dewey.

Quite a large number of recruits were aboard the State last night, on their way to Vancouver to join the Thirty-fifth regiment soon to start for Manila.

The Fulton cottage at Seaside has been closed for the season, and the families of C. W. and G. C. Fulton returned to the city on the afternoon train yesterday.

The drummer is abroad in the land. From the number of commercial travelers now in the field, it is judged that wholesalers expect a good fall trade and large orders.

The Portland school board has adopted a rule making vaccination of public school children compulsory, and nearly all the physicians of the city approve the action.

John Kay, a Portland capitalist, and his wife and H. G. Kay, a Portland druggist, accompanied by his wife, were in town last night. They will spend a few days at Seaside.

Fennett's band of thirty-six musicians were passengers up from San Francisco last evening on the State. They will play for the Portland exposition which opens tonight.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Nordstrom died yesterday. The funeral will take place at 2 o'clock today from the residence, 24 Third street. Interment at Greenwood cemetery.

The old frame building on the corner of Fourteenth and Bond was torn down yesterday and a new building will be erected on the site. Contractor Palmberg will commence work on the building Monday next.

Complaint has been made to the police authorities that a number of boys are in the habit of going in swimming in the reservoir on the hill. If any of the culprits are caught, they will be severely dealt with.

The lumber business shows its usual activity. The Clatsop Mill Company has a large force of men at work keeping up the customary large output. Orders and shipments show a healthy condition of the market.

The slight smokiness of the atmosphere betokens forest fires. The summer rains prevented the usual fires of July and August and it was hoped that the timber would escape this year, but the forest fire fiend seems irresistible.

James Petty yesterday received a telegram from New York, stating that $107,000, his share of an estate left him recently, was at his disposal. Two hundred and fifty dollars was sent him to defray his expenses, and he leaves for New York this morning.

The congregation of the local Baptist church has extended a call to Rev. L. J. Trumbull for his sixth continuous year in this charge. The confidence implied in the compliment is very highly appreciated by Mr. Trumbull, and he has decided to accept the call.

James Nevins, manager of the Pinkerton detective agency in Portland, is being tried on an indictment charging him with maintaining an armed and uniformed police patrol without permission from the city authorities. The action is based on the recent state law intended to cover such cases.

The "Vanity Fair" company, which appears at Fisher's opera house next Monday evening, opens at the Marquam Grand in Portland next Tuesday. The company is said to be one of the best traveling and Fisher's should be crowded Monday evening. Seat sale opens Saturday morning at Griffin & Reed's.

There was a restful air about the docks yesterday. It was an off day and but few crafts were moving. Men with time to spend wandered idly along the piers, enjoying the radiant weather and the pleasing prospect presented by the bay. Small boys fished successfully and two hungry-looking reporters looking for news that didn't exist wished they were little boys.

John McCormick returned yesterday from a month's visit in the Willamette valley. He says the farmers have finished threshing. The summer rains damaged the crops to some extent, but, taking into consideration the overplus of acreage seeded, the yield will be about the same as that of last year. Hops, he says, are in good condition, and some sales are being made at 12 cents a pound.

John McCormack and Chas. Wortley returned last night from Yamhill county, where they have been engaged in the useful and pleasing occupation of picking hops. Hop picking is a profitable recreation. There is more real fun in two weeks spent in a hop yard than there is in a whole year of ordinary town life. Hop time is the holiday time for a great many and during the season Valley villages are semi-depopulated by the exodus of beer blossom gatherers.

Warrants for the arrest of the boys accused of injuring the Cedar street school building and fixtures were issued yesterday, the school clerk, Mr. E. Z. Ferguson, being the complainant. Some of the defendants are out of town and one cannot be served with the warrant on account of contagious disease in the family. The trial of these arrested will probably take place this morning. Chief of Police Hallock states that the depredations were not reported to him until Tuesday and that upon request of the school board the police department undertook to find the offenders. The same afternoon he was able to give the board a list of the culprits. Some of the boys acknowledge their waywardness and implicated the others.

of Tompkinsville. The progress there was triumphant, all sorts of craft, including the dispatch boat Dolphin, with Assistant Secretary of the Navy Allen on board, accompanying the Olympia up the bay. The thousands that greeted Dewey and the Olympia had the satisfaction of seeing the hero of Manila as he stood on the superstructure with Assistant Secretary Allen and Captain Lambertson. The admiral repeatedly doffed his cap to the cheering crowds in returning their salute.

It was explained today that, while both Dewey and Rear Admiral Howison outrank Rear Admiral Sampson, there will be no change in the arrangements giving Sampson full control of the naval portion of the demonstration in Dewey's honor. Howison will be a guest at the ceremony, but his presence will not interfere with Sampson.

THE TRIP UP THE BAY. NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Long before dawn, steam and sailing craft of all imaginable sizes gathered in the vicinity of the southwest channel, and swarmed around the Olympia like night flies around a light, as she lay swinging gracefully with the tide. Her string of signal lights was kept constantly changing, and there was a veritable pyrotechnical display as the answers were flashed across the bay to the salutation of passing ships. A searchlight from Sir Thomas Lipton's yacht, the Erin, was kept flashing around the Olympia until almost daybreak, making the cruiser stand out in bold relief, to the delight of landsmen and the gratification of many of watchers on many of the vessels in the bay.

Just at dawn the signal lights on the Olympia went down, and over the bay came the faint bugle notes of the reveille. Half an hour later the shrill sound of the boatswain's whistle was heard piping the men to clean ship, and soon the sailor lads were seen swarming the decks with swabs and buckets, working with a will, and getting the pride of the navy shipshape for her trip to anchorage off Tompkinsville.

At 6:45 the cruiser Chicago, flying the pennant of Rear Admiral Howison passed in at the Narrows and received a salute of guns from Fort Hancock. As she neared the Olympia, her rapid-fire guns belched forth an admiral's salute, which the Olympia returned with 13 guns, the salute for rear admiral. As the Chicago passed close to the Olympia Dewey, who was on the quarter deck, returned Howison's salute, and shouted out a greeting. The sailors on the Olympia manned the rail, and returned the hearty cheers of the Chicago's crew. The Chicago proceeded to Tompkinsville.

At 8 o'clock sharp colors were sounded, and the flag and the jack were hoisted fore and aft, to the strains of the Star-Spangled Banner. The admiral stood well aft at attention, while behind him were grouped Captain Lambertson, George Dewey, Jr., and the officers and men, all at salute as the flag was slowly run up.

At 8:30 o'clock, the Dolphin, flying the secretary of the navy's flag, hove in sight, having on board Assistant Secretary of the Navy Allen, who was received with a salute. He went on board the Olympia at 8:45, and remained, chatting with the admiral on quarter deck until the Olympia weighed anchor. When the Olympia got under way, Dewey felt the cold, strong north-west breeze that was blowing, and sent an orderly for his cape, which he wrapped around him. He wore the undress uniform, in which he has been so often pictured. Dewey and Allen had an animated talk on the superstructure of the Olympia, the Admiral occasionally leaving Allen's side to doff his cap to a boat loaded with excursionists, who would yell themselves hoarse to attract the hero's attention.

When at last the Olympia started to Tompkinsville, she was flanked on the right by the Associated Press tug Kuper, and on the left by the tug Diligent, and was followed by the dispatch boat Dolphin. All the way up the lower bay signals boys were kept busy dipping their colors, while the steam siren was kept tooting out thanks of the admiral to his admirers.

As the cruiser neared Forts Wadsworth and Hamilton, the sailors passed forward, while the marines paraded on the quarter deck in full-dress uniform, standing at attention while the ensign was lowered from the mizen-gaff to the monkey-gaff, and ships number was displayed. As the Olympia entered the channel the signal corps on the forts wig-wagged a welcome, which was answered by the ship's signaler. The slopes of the forts were crowded with soldiers, and as the first gun belched forth its welcome they cheered lustily. The face of the hero of Manila was wreathed in smiles as his ship answered gun for gun. A little later the cruiser joined Admiral Sampson's fleet off Tompkinsville, which thundered out its welcome to the commander in chief.

A good meal with meats rich in flavor and one you will enjoy with a relish, is just what you get at the Creamerie restaurant, 271 Washington street, near Third. Try it when you go to Portland.

If you are going up to Portland and miss going to the Creamerie Restaurant, 271 Washington St., you may consider that your trip will not be a success, as others will tell you, who do not miss it.

Holmes' English and Business College at No. 414 Yamhill street, Portland, is prepared to accommodate a large number of pupils this year. Already the classes are well crowded, a fact that indicates the excellent character of the institution.

Why is Watson's restaurant in Portland patronized by thousands of people daily? Simply because it is the largest, finest and best equipped eating resort on the Pacific coast. Watson's restaurant has sixty-eight white employees on its pay roll. Remember the location, 189-11 Fourth street.

Smokers, read—All 15 cent cigars, 10 cents; El Palencia, 10 cents; El Belmont, 10 cents; General Arthur, 10 cents; Leland Stanford, 10 cents; Sanchez Y. Hyak, 10 cents; All 5 cent, 6 for 25 cents. J. F. Handley & Co., cut cigars and news dealer, Perkins hotel building, Portland, Oregon.

The Perrin method of shorthand is being taught by Mr. H. W. Behnke in the Oregonian building at Portland. The Perrin system is not only extremely legible after being written, but is exceptionally rapid. It is said that students under Mr. Behnke's direction attain success in one-half the time essential with either Graham, Munson or Pitman methods. This school is open day and night.

A tailoring establishment of some pretensions, located on Washington street, Portland, claims to have made 47 suits for dressy Astorians during the past six months. This statement is denied by the firm of Povey & Birchall, at 237 Washington street, near the Imperial hotel, who are patronized by the great majority of outside customers. Povey & Birchall make the swell suits for most of the stylish Portlanders, and feel that they are not excelled by any Portland firm for out of town patronage.
